Mobile Apps DevelopmentTotal Lectures: 40*Credit: 3-1-0-4*Prerequisite(s): CS 14.202(Java Programming)Objective(s):

- To learn how mobile apps are different from others traditional apps by learning those aspects of mobile programming that make it unique from other platforms
- Program mobile applications for the Android operating system that use basic and advanced phone features
- Deploy applications to the Android marketplace for distribution.

1. Getting started with Mobility: Mobility landscape, mobile platform, mobile apps development, overview of android platform, setting up the mobile app development environment along with an emulator, a case study on mobile app development. [8]
2. Building blocks of mobile apps: Apps user: Interface designing-mobile UI resources (Layout,UI elements, Draw-able,Menu), activity-states and life-cycle, interaction amongst activities. app-functionality beyond user interface- threads, async task, service –state and life cycle, notification, broad cast receivers, telephony and smsapis native data handling-on device file I/O, shared preferences, mobile database such as SQLite, and enterprise data access(via Internet/Intranet) [15]
3. Sprucing up mobile apps: Graphics and animation- custom views, canvas, animation APIs, multimedia-audio/video playback and record, location awareness, and native hardware access (sensor such as accelerometer and gyroscope). [8]
4. Testing mobile apps: Debugging mobile apps, whitebox testing, blackbox testing, and test automation of mobile app, JUnit for Android, Robotium, Monkey Talk. [6]
5. Taking apps to market: Versioning signing and packaging mobileapps, distributing apps on mobile market place. [3]

Outcome(s):

On successful completion of this course, students will be able to

- Understand the android operating system in details
- Create mobile application for various screens
- Deploy on play store market
- Use various sensors available in mobile

DIPLOMA IN CHINESE

Programme Level: Diploma

Duration: One Year (Two Semesters)

No. of Seats: 20

Objective:

To study something has many advantages and study of languages is no different. There are a number of personal and professional advantages to be derived from studying them. Right now Chinese is fast moving itself into a position to be a dominant world language and a strong cultural force of the world in the 21st century. As a result, Chinese (Mandarin) as language provides an open door to a huge job market in all of the countries where it is the main language of commerce; like mainland China, Taiwan, Indonesia, Thailand, Malaysia, Brunei, Singapore, The Philippines and Mongolia. . Learning Chinese today can help one make a better future for him.

Upon completion of this course, student would be able to converse proficiently in Chinese on topics relating to self, family and friends; and study, recognize and produce the tones of Modern Standard Chinese accurately using the pinyin system of Romanization; explain the principles of the Chinese Character writing system, recognize and write approximately 1000 basic Chinese Characters; and recognize a further 2000 Chinese words and phrases. Besides this, the programme also intends to make learner aware about the basic history and culture of China by introducing its history, political system, economy and culture.

The first batch of the programme in MITS is proposed to be admitted in the session 2013-2014.

Input Qualification:

Candidate should have completed one year certificate course in Chinese from MITS, or equivalent.

Evaluation Procedure:

All Rules and Regulations as provided in the Ordinances and Regulations of Undergraduate Programmes shall be followed.
